

Abide in the Wind Yusladipol Harbor

Chapter 134

Translator/Editor: Akiyuki
Proofreader: CC - hatsukir

Change into these,
it'll be easier to move

Where did you get these?

The people who lived
around here have been vacating their homes and fleeing
to the Old Continent.

We've been avoiding
the main roads.

but you'll occasionally
catch a glimpse of the refugees heading east

In other words,
they're stolen.

Abide in the Wind

Episode 8 • Yushadipol Harbor

Story • Art

Shun Weol

Itr, being a floating fortress, is difficult to predict. You never know where or when it will appear next.

However, I wager I can guess one time it will appear.

next spring.

That is when the Dragon Knights will reach maturity. And, in order to open the path.

they'll need to cross the Great Plains to reach the End of the World. That is where they will make their appearance.

Reaching Itr will require a flying ship.

But not just any ship. It'll have to be able to navigate in this cursed weather and have, at least, the defensive capabilities of a Kreuz-class ship.

And as it stands, the place where we're most likely to be able to find a ship with those capabilities

is in the largest port in the east — Sokolopol.

In other words, our first object is to arrive at Sokolopol safely.

Also, both the railway and the airships are out of service. So, we'll be traveling by foot.

If we're lucky, it'll only take a month.

Any questions?

Did Moore tell you that?

She debriefed me on the Dragon and Sir.

She also told me how you were bound to that Mirage Beast
and when the Mirage Beast had expended its energy.

she requested I become something of a host for you and the creature.

Does that mean 'Vero—

But, she isn't likely to manifest anytime soon. Apparently, Mikagami — the potential parasite! —
is pressing for an opportunity and suppressing her has become a fixing occupation.

Well then, we should depart.

There's no shelter here.

We'll have to backtrack.

If we head north, there will be better concealment in the hills.

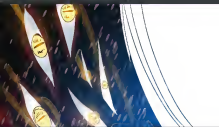

It senses us

No, I need to preserve
the ammunition

Besides,
a shot might draw
other beasts.

TURN

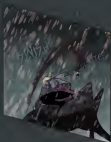

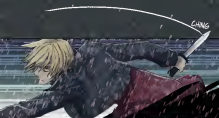

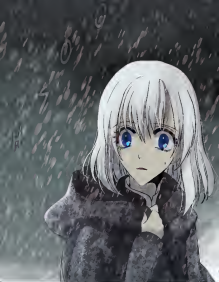

STAB

That wasn't a kiss

The plains-dwelling Black Mirage Beasts may, unlike their forest counterparts, be killed by normal weaponry.

To do so, however, will accelerate the oxidation of metal components, resulting in an unreliable weapon.

Additionally, though Black Mirage Beasts tend to be more aggressive and stronger, they succumb to blackthorn upon death and thus nothing of value remains from the hunt.

Perhaps this is a result of being distant from the Forest...

Should the Forest
of Miraga Beasts expand
its territory and influence
through the contract

and draw the Imagi
and Miraga Beasts out.

we'll have to drill into
even deeper areas

why

didn't you use your Dragon Artifact?

The weapon with
the flames

Why not use that,
instead of letting yourself
get so... burnt up?

I'm not contracted to a Dragon Artifact
anymore

I'm just a normal person

I hadn't considered it
before, but he's in tatters He's even taken effort to retrieve that buttoned cloak.

What happened
to your companions?
The Dragon Knights
who followed you

Why are you alone?

Hoy!

Abide in the Wind

Episode 8 • Yushadopol Harbor

Story • Art

Shin Woo!

Assistant

Kim Yun Bong Ye

cafe <http://cafe.naver.com/abideinthewind>

blog <http://blog.naver.com/buckdwl>

Abide in the Wind

Next: Yushadipol Harbor (5)

Chapter 140

2010 AITW Test Script

2014 ACTW Episode 8

Abide in the Wind

Now available on Naver - support the author!

Follow the instructions on oddsquads.org

>Pick your method under "Webtoon reader"
to install a plugin to your browser or activate the chapters through a bookmark.
Title ID on Naver is 414609

*Note: We are gradually adding the earlier chapters first.
The recent chapters will still be released
through our current platform.